*CAMPUS LIFE
Summer Session students enjoy a vibrant and busy campus. We offer dozens of social and cultural activities during the summer, keeping students engaged with their community. In addition, campus recreational centers will be open for swimming and other fitness activities.

SCHOLARSHIPS & PAYMENT PLANS
Summer Session scholarships based on need and merit are available for Rutgers students who qualify. Two-, three-, four-, or five-month payment plans are available to all students, easing the burden of a lump sum payment. Plan early and secure your seat. For more information visit summer.rutgers.edu/nb.

Real Students, Real Voices
“Summer Session is a great way for students to focus on a specific subject area. For me, I was actually able to go to a hospital and learn what pharmacists do, work with the different medical teams, and help patients directly.”
-Akash Parmar

“I’m trying to complete a double major in math and economics. Summer Session will help me achieve that goal.”
-Wanning Tan

“I work full-time and was looking to earn some credits so my last two semesters wouldn’t be as stressful and demanding.”
-Cassie Frustaci

“I took a Summer Session course to fulfill a core requirement and to get ahead on my current curriculum.”
-An Nguyen

“Being a transfer student, taking a summer course helped me catch up with credits.”
-PJ Cise

Students enjoy free activities in summer including yoga, open mic, painting, and author talks.

SUMMER
SESSION 2017
NEW FOR 2017!

CLASSICAL LITERATURES OF AFRICA, THE MIDDLE EAST, AND SOUTH ASIA
01:013:201:B1

Get a glimpse of the literature and culture of Africa, the Middle East, and South Asia. This online course introduces students to the great epics and folklore of these regions, from antiquity to the 15th century. Through an examination of canonical texts, students will discover the differences and similarities between the regions’ literary traditions. The course will be taught by Dr. Anjali Nerlekar, an associate professor with 25 years of experience. Nerlekar speaks five languages and conducts research on Indian literature and culture. This course fulfills the AH0 or AHp requirement for SAS students.

SPECIAL TOPICS IN AMERICAN STUDIES: BEACHES, LAKES, AND RIVERS OF NEW JERSEY
01:050:301:C1

This unique course taught by Dr. Jonathon Appels provides experiential learning about beaches, lakes, and rivers of New Jersey. The course meets on Saturdays at a different body of water each week. Students will study the culture of these bodies of water from an historical perspective. Appels is a part-time lecturer for the Department of American Studies who has studied many forms of athletic recreation and is interested in the relationship between expression, healing, and culture. This course fulfills an elective requirement for American Studies majors or minors.

PREJUDICE AND CONFLICT
01:830:375:H2

This course exposes students to a broad spectrum of ideas and perspectives on discrimination, prejudice, and racial stereotypes. Primarily a discussion-based course, Prejudice and Conflict provides students with the education and skills to effectively express their views and discuss difficult topics. Kim Chaney, a social psychology doctoral student at Rutgers whose own research examines the ideologies that underlie prejudice, will teach the course. This course fulfills an elective requirement for Psychology majors or minors.

HEALTH, CULTURE, AND SOCIETY
01:506:227:A1

Are you interested in pursuing a career in the health professions? This course introduces students to the study of health from the perspectives of sociology, health, medicine, and the humanities. Instructor Dr. Johanna Shoen currently teaches and conducts research on the history of medicine. Her interests focus on medical ethics and end of life care, both of which will be covered in this course. This course fulfills the Health, Culture, and Society minor in Sociology.
